ARDANUY INGENIERÍA, S.A. ENVIRONMENTAL POLICY

Environmental protection is highly valued among the company objectives. Within the company general policies the environmental policy and environmental protection are included as a new company objective that goes beyond the actual field of activity.

In order to ensure this objective, an Environmental Management System, that provides environmental guidelines and goals towards environmental protection, was developed:

1. Environmental protection is an important responsibility to management and we make sure this is done with particular goals and guidelines to be followed in all job functions and areas of activity within the company. Environmental protection requires the responsibility of everyone.
2. The main task of our environmental protection policy is to reduce environmental impact caused by our production processes, and consumption of water and energy, and to improve environmental aspects of projects carried out by Ardanuy Ingeniería.
3. By assigning an environmental management system manager we can ensure consideration of applicable legal requirements in matters of environmental protection regarding company decisions and their application through the means adopted. We openly commit to compliance of these legal requirements.
4. We periodically review environmental protection conditions within our company in order to detect any weak points, to have necessary actions planned, and to document the progress made.
5. Our commitment to continuous improvement and prevention of contamination guides our efforts in the search for greater environmental compatibility of the techniques applied. For this we consider the lifespan of products employed and their management in the most environmentally friendly manner possible, and we strive to use raw materials, energy and water with utmost moderation and consideration.
6. We understand legal requirements as the minimums to comply with and we aim for a higher degree of environmental protection throughout the entire company. Thus, we promise to comply with all legal requirements and any other requirements subscribed that relate with our environmental aspects.
7. We fully inform and educate our employees about the environmental aspects linked with our activity and their role in the company and we encourage them to reflect their environmental awareness in the workplace.
8. Environmental information is made available to the public regarding our company and how we work with other companies, official bodies, associations and institutions in the aims to protect the environment.

Management and employees alike are all responsible for correct and efficient development of the environmental guidelines and goals of the Environmental Management System.

Annual environmental programmes make continuous improvement to the environment possible.
